BREED THEATER.

The Faithful Indian, a superb western drama, is the feature picture at the Breed today, and tells of a young cowboy, who is injured in an explosion of dynamite, his life being saved only through the aid of his faithful Indian servant. A scheming doctor is called to the young fellow's cabin, and in picking bits of bowder from the face of the temporarily daranged patient discovers some grains of gold, and knows the fellow has made a rich and of ore. The doctor sheet makes in effort to wring from the Indian he secret of the location of the mine and in failing, calle ugan the town milies, who resort is office to accomplish the secret of the location of the Indian rices to his feet, but is felled y a severe they from the chiprit octor. This adden shock brings to be patient a return of his reason, and the patient a return of his reason, and the patient a return of his reason, and the handed drives them from the cause. The faithful Indian is then given a share in the valuable claim. Excussit Biograph and Vitagraph omes, further enhance this brilliant regramme.

A resolution appropriating a total of 385,000 for the education of the deaf and dumb in the institutions at Mystic and Hartford passed the house without opposition Tuesday. This is the usual appropriation and is for two years, ending September 30, 1918.

That 50 to 60 per cent, of the premiums paid to fire insurance companies are shown by their reports to go for administration expenses, and that this is the basic reason for asking for a special committee of the legislature to investigate their charge, was the statement made by Representative. Thoms of Waterbury on the floor of the house Tuesday. This matter of having such an investigation, as provided for in a resolution that passed the senate a few days ago, was taken up in the house Tuesday, but as it is to be debated at length and the hour was late when the introductions were over, adjournment was taken.
